

CULTURE BLUEPRINT

Be a part of something bigger

The Power of Culture

Our culture is the heartbeat of NEST Capital, making it a truly special place to work. It fuels our passion, energizes our actions, and drives our collective success.

Creating and sustaining this culture requires intentional commitment from every member of our team.

Our Culture Blueprint serves as a guiding framework in that ongoing effort and it helps us keep what is most important top of mind.

What is Culture and Why is It Important?

Culture isn't just words on a wall—it's what we believe, how we behave, and the results our actions create. It forms the foundation of our company. While written statements help define our culture, they don't build it—our actions do.

Our core beliefs set the standards for how we treat each other, our clients and our partners. Because culture influences behavior, it directly impacts how well we execute our strategy. The ultimate goal of culture is to drive winning behaviors.

At NEST Capital, our success depends on our ability to collaborate and execute more effectively than the competition. Culture unites everyone in the organization around a shared set of core beliefs and essential behaviors, shaping how we perform in our industry.

20 Square Feet

20 Square Feet represents the idea that every individual within the organization has a personal sphere of influence. Within your 20 Square Feet, you have control. Beyond it, you create impact.

Culture is built by everyone—no action or attitude is ever culturally neutral. What you choose to do (or not do) within your 20 Square Feet shapes the environment around you.

The way each of us manages our 20 Square Feet defines our collective culture and performance.

Never underestimate your power to make a difference.

Belief + Behavior = Outcome

Our Culture Blueprint clearly defines the key behaviors and outcomes aligned with our core beliefs. These behaviors are vital for effectively running our business and navigating the demands of a fast-paced, competitive industry.

Our goal is to foster a culture where everyone consistently embraces the actions that drive our success. Together, we can accomplish more!
